THE SPANIARDS AND THE ENGLISH SETTLEMENT IN CHARLES TOWN<sup>1</sup>

By JOSÉ MIGUEL GALLARDO

Professor of Romance Languages, College of Charleston

Date: March 6, 1680.

Sire:

On October 22nd of the past year, sixteen hundred and seventy-nine, I was informed by my lieutenant in the province of Wallie (Georgia) of the arrival at the port of that garrison of five Englishmen coming from the province of Carolina, called St. George.<sup>3</sup> They were sent with a messenger to this fort where their testimonies were taken. They were asked why they had come and their replies appear in the testimonies that I am placing at the Royal Feet of Your Majesty. I am sending the said five Englishmen to the governor of Havana because I have no means of supporting them and no work for them. Your Majesty whose Royal Catholic Person may God preserve many years for the benefit of Christianity will order what is most convenient to the Royal Service.

St. Augustine, Florida, March 6, 1680.

Pablo de Hita Salazar.

<sup>1</sup> This article is the third of a series, the first two of which appeared in the April and July 1936 issues of this magazine.

<sup>3</sup> This is the first time in this series of letters that the Spanish documents refer to the English settlement as Carolina. Previously it has been called St. George. See Part I and II in the April and July issues.

The above is accompanied by the following:

Warrant: In the city of St. Augustine, province of Florida, on the twenty-fifth day of the month of October, sixteen hundred and seventy-nine, the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor and Captain General of this city and its provinces for the King our Lord, said that: whereas, Captain Don Francisco de Zigarroa, Commander of the Infantry in the garrison of Wallie Province informed His Grace of the arrival at St. Catherine's mission, where he is on duty, of a launch with five Englishmen with weapons, and, whereas, he sent a person to bring them to this fort to be examined as to their arrival and the causes and reasons that led them to come to this Wallie Province: therefore, having been thus brought to this fort, His Grace ordered that their testimonies be taken and he accordingly provided, ordered and signed.

Warrant: In the city of St. Augustine, Florida, on the said twenty-fifth day of October of the said year, the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor of this city and its provinces for the King our Lord, said that: whereas, His Grace issued a warrant to examine the five Englishmen that were sent to this fort by Captain Don Francisco de Zigarroa, Commander of the Infantry on duty in Wallie Province, and, whereas, in order to take their testimonies it was necessary to appoint an interpreter of their language, and, whereas, the only person capable of performing this task was Charles Robson, Head Surgeon of this fort; therefore, His Grace appointed him interpreter for the said Englishmen, and notified him to accept and take the oath, and after complying with these requisites, to assist His Grace in taking their testimonies. By this warrant it is thus provided, ordered and signed.

Pablo de Hita Salazar

Before me: Alonso Solana, Public and Government Scribe.

Acceptance and Oath: In St. Augustine, Florida, on the said day, month and year, I, the Scribe, in compliance with the provisions of the above warrant issued by the Governor and Captain General, on this day read it to Charles Robson, Head Surgeon of this Fort, informing him of the contents thereof, and of his appointment as interpreter of the English language in order to examine the said five Englishmen. After hearing and understanding it, he stated that he accepted it and he did accept it accordingly. He swore before God and upon the cross according to the law to perform his duties faithfully and loyally to the best of his knowledge and understanding, and to ask the said Englishmen the questions that he might be directed to ask and to return their answers thereto without adding to or taking anything from them, pursuant to the provisions of the said warrant, and so minded he accepted and signed his name. I, the Scribe, bear witness thereof.

Testimony of John Hash.<sup>4</sup> In the city of St. Augustine, Florida, on the said day, month and year, the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor and Captain General of this city and its provinces for His Majesty, in compliance with the warrant which heads these proceedings caused to appear before him one of the Englishmen mentioned therein. Through Charles Robson, appointed interpreter, he was asked his name and religion. He said his name was John Hash, and that he belonged to the Protestant faith. He was duly sworn in the name of God according to his faith, whereby he promised to tell the truth. He was asked where he was born, and he said he was a native of England. He was asked where he had been residing, and he stated that about four months ago he left England with the three companions who are in this fort, and that they came to the port of Carolina, seventy leagues to the north of this city. He was asked what motives and reasons induced him to leave the said port of Carolina and come with his companions to St. Catherine in the province of Wallie. He said that in England he had heard glowing tales about the said settlement of Carolina, and he left his country in order to improve his fortune. Discovering this to be impossible, and in view of the want and suffering he had had to endure, he and his three companions decided to take a launch to go to a place where they might find passage to England. He was asked if the settlement of the said province of Carolina were large, its population, fortifications and armaments. He said he thought there were in the said province about four hundred men. As to the fortifications, he was not able to give much information because he had been taken about ten leagues up the river from the boat in which he came to a plantation belonging to the Chancellor of England,<sup>5</sup> where he saw a curtain and a moat with four artillery pieces. He did not see any other forts or cities. He was asked if he had heard rumors that they (the English) intended to raid this fort, and he was also questioned as to the number of vessels in port. He said that he had not heard any person of importance say anything about coming to this fort, but in talking to the people he had heard them say that if there were mines they would risk coming here. As to the vessels, he said that there were usually three or four in port, among them a large one that made trips to England for provisions and communication. He was asked if they (the English) had any dealings with the Indians in the hinterland provinces, the extent of their commerce and the names of the islands with which they traded. He said they had no dealings with the Indians under the jurisdiction of this fort, and that the Indians that came and went in their settlements were infidel Indians living nearby, who came to trade the furs of different animals. He said they had overseas commerce with the Barbados, from which they provided themselves with necessities, and in exchange they shipped barrel staves and some tobacco which were products of the soil. He stated that what he had confessed was the truth according to his knowledge under the oath taken, which he affirmed and ratified, and he said that he was about twenty-two years of age. He signed with the said governor and interpreter.

Testimony of Thomas Jibe:<sup>6</sup> In St. Augustine, Florida, on the said day, month and year, His Grace, the said Governor, in compliance with the said warrant, caused to appear before him one of the men of English nationality mentioned therein. This man was sworn in the name of God according to his faith, through Charles Robson, appointed interpreter, and he promised to tell the truth. He was asked through the said interpreter his name, occupation, religion and birthplace. He said his name was Thomas Jibe, that he was a seaman by trade, and that he professed the faith of the English Protestants and was born in the city of Salisbury. Being asked his residence, he stated that he left England in a small boat about four months ago in search of a port, seventy leagues north of this fort, in his language called the Province of Carolina, and in ours St. George. He was asked what reasons induced him and his companions to leave the said province of Carolina and come to the port of St. Catherine in Wallie province. He said that in view of the difficulties and suffering they had had to endure, especially as regards food, they had bought a launch in which they came to this jurisdiction in order to find passage and means of returning to the said kingdom of England. He was asked the size of the English settlement in the said province of Carolina, its population, fortifications and armaments. He said there are two small places in the said province with frame houses, and in the first settlement which they founded<sup>7</sup> there is a stockade fort with a mound with nine pieces of iron artillery. The other settlement is at a distance of about a league and a half on a spot called Oyster Point.<sup>8</sup> It is the basin for vessels and is on terra firma. It has about twenty five or thirty houses without any fortifications.<sup>9</sup> In the whole jurisdiction there is no other fort save one on a plantation ten leagues up the river which is said to belong to the Grand Chancellor of England, and which has a trench with a moat and bridge with four pieces of artillery. The said plantation is for the purpose of

<sup>5</sup> The deponent refers to a plantation belonging to Lord Anthony Ashley, Earl of Shaftesbury, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who was a leading spirit in the settling of Carolina. This grant of 12,000 acres was located near the head waters of the Ashley River. See Collections of the Historical Society of South Carolina, V, 339, 371, 420, 455, 456, 457, 462, 465, 474.

<sup>9</sup> In testimony given in a document dated March 22, 1672, the deponent states that the first settlement had "about thirty small houses" while in the second "he saw four small houses." See April 1936 issue, p. 55. Notice that by this time, 1679, the new settlement had grown to "twenty-five or thirty houses." Cf. Henry A. M. introducing cattle raising.<sup>10</sup> As to the population, he said he was not able to give accurate information because he had arrived only a short time ago, but according to what he had been told there must be about four hundred men capable of bearing arms. He was asked with whom they (the English) traded, what products they raised, with what Indians they had dealings and what Indians were under their jurisdiction. He said that they traded with Bermuda, the Barbados and Virginia, at which places they secured sugar, molasses, rum and other food supplies. As for the Indians, he could only say that many of them came to these towns to barter various kinds of furs. He was asked if they had any dealings with the hinterland Indians: with the Apalachicole Indians or with those of foreign nations outside the territory where they (the English) resided. He was asked if anyone had gone out of the said towns of his nation to get pearls in the Cafatache [sic]. He said he knew nothing about these matters. He was asked if he had heard who killed a soldier from this fort on sentry duty with some Indians in the port of St. Catherine, where they had entered with their launch. He said he understood that the Indians of St. Helena had killed a soldier and had taken away his arms because he had heard about it in the said province of Carolina. He was asked if the four companions who came with him were from the said kingdom of England, and if they left together for the said province, or if he found them there. He said that three left together from England on the occasion mentioned, and that they found the other, called Daniel, in the said province. He stated that all that he had said and declared was the truth under the oath he had taken, which he affirmed and ratified. He said he was about twenty-three years of age, and he signed with His Grace, the said governor, and the interpreter, whereof I bear witness.

Testimony of Daniel Turner:<sup>11</sup> In St. Augustine, Florida, on the said day, month and year, His Grace, the said governor, caused to appear before him a man of English nationality who was sworn in the name of God according to his faith to answer faithfully and truly any questions asked him. After being sworn, he was asked his name, occupation and native province or land. He said his name was Daniel Turner, that he knew something about carpentry and that he was an Englishman. He was asked where he resided and why he had come with his companions to the port of St. Catherine, province of Wallie. He said that he had left the port of London about a year and a half ago in a small boat with fifty companions in order to improve his fortunes and to find some comfort in the said province of Carolina (also called St. George), at a distance of seventy leagues north of this city. Suffering hardships, hunger and want without hope of relief because of the poverty of the soil, he and his companions fled in order to come to this fort to find passage for the said kingdom of England, their native land. He was asked the number of people in the said province of Carolina, their fortifications and towns. He said there are two small towns, and that both together have about four hundred men capable of bearing arms, all of them being settlers. One of the places is planted on terra firma and the other on an island. There are two forts, each settlement having its own, with stockade and fascines, with eight pieces of iron artillery, garrisoned by settlers. He was asked if he had heard at any time of a conference between the governor and the prominent folk of the two towns regarding their intention of coming to this fort. He said he knew nothing about this matter. He was asked if the English had dealings with the Indians on the mainland, particularly with those under the jurisdiction of this fort, or with the Chisca and Chichimeco Indians. He said they had no communication with any Christian Indians subject to these provinces. At times a troop of Indians armed with fire-arms which the English think are the ones we call Chichimecos had been wont to come to that district. About seven months ago another Indian troop of a different nation, probably the Chiscas, came and fought the ones supposed to be Chichimecos. The deponent could not give any further information, and he stated that all he confessed was the truth to the best of his knowledge under the oath taken, which he affirmed and ratified. He said he was twenty-three years of age, and he signed with His Grace, the said governor, and the said interpreter.

Testimony of John Val:<sup>12</sup> In St. Augustine, Florida, on the said day, month and year, His Grace, the said Governor and Captain General, caused a man to appear before him. He was asked through the said Charles Robson, appointed interpreter, his name, occupation, faith and nationality. He said his name was John Val, that he had no trade, and that he belonged to the Protestant religion and was a native of the kingdom of England. Having been sworn in the name of God according to his faith, he promised to tell the truth, and under this oath he was asked how long it had been since he left the kingdom of England and from what place he had come. He said that he had left about four months ago, and that he had embarked from the port of Plymouth for the province of Carolina, known also by the name of St. George, because of the hardships he had had to endure in his fatherland. After arriving at the said province and finding no relief, but, on the other hand, suffering greater difficulties, he planned with his companions to come to this fort to find passage to return to England. He was asked the towns, fighting men, fortifications and the vessels in port in Carolina. He said that there are two towns, and in each there is a fort with fascines and palisades. He estimated that there are about three hundred settlers without any paid infantry, and he said that the vessels that they have for communication and commerce are small as a general rule. He was asked to name the places the English traded with and to tell something of the quality and conditions of the bartered goods.

<sup>12</sup> The Spanish document gives the deponent's name as Juan Val which may be the Spanish for John Ball, John Vale, or John Bale.

He said they communicated with the Barbados, Virginia and Bermuda, from which places they obtained rum, sugar, molasses and other food supplies, for which they exchanged barrel staves and some tobacco produced in the said island [sic]. He was asked if he had heard that the people in Carolina island [sic] intended to come to this fort, and if they had any dealings with the Indians subject to this fort. He said he had never heard that the people of his nationality intended coming to this fort, or that they had any dealings with the Indians in the hinterland, but that they dealt with an Indian nation which we think are the Chichimecos with whom they bartered for furs. All that he declared in answer to the questions asked him he stated to be the truth under the oath taken, which he affirmed and ratified. He stated that he was twenty years of age, and he did not sign because he was not able to do so. Signed by the said interpreter together with His Grace.

Testimony of Edward David:<sup>13</sup> In the city of St. Augustine, province of Florida, on the twenty-sixth day of the month of October, sixteen hundred and seventy-nine, the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor and Captain General of this city and its provinces for the King our Lord, caused to appear before His Grace one of the men mentioned in the warrant at the heading of these proceedings. Through Charles Robson, appointed interpreter, he was asked his name, occupation, native land and religion. He said his name was Edward David, his occupation that of a laborer, and that he was a native of the kingdom of England, and a Protestant by religion. He was duly sworn in the name of God according to his faith, and he promised to tell the truth. Upon being asked how long it had been since he left the kingdom of England and for what destination, he said that he had left England for the province of Carolina, also called St. George, about four months ago because he was poor and wanted to earn his living. He had sailed in a vessel of about eighty tons, without any artillery. After spending a month or more in Carolina, observing the poverty of the soil and enduring want, he fled with his companions in a launch. They arrived at the port of St. Catherine, in the province of Wallie, from which place they were brought to this fort by order of His Grace. He was asked how many towns of his nationality there were in the said province of Carolina, the number of forts, the amount of artillery, the number of fighting men and the population. He said that in the short time he had been there he had not seen the main town, but that he had stopped in another town which had about thirty frame houses and a fort with fascines. He could not determine the amount of artillery it had, and, as for the people, he could not tell or even conjecture the number, as he had paid little attention to such details because his youth, poverty and want led him only to worry about getting passage to return to the said Kingdom of England. This testimony he declared to be the truth under the oath taken which he affirmed and ratified. He said he was about twenty-one years of age, and he did not sign because he was unable to do so. Signed by His Grace together with the said interpreter.

Remittal Warrant: In the city of St. Augustine, province of Florida, on the twenty-sixth day of October, sixteen hundred and seventy-nine, the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor and Captain General of this city and its provinces for the King our Lord, stated that His Grace received the testimony of five Englishmen who fled in a small vessel from the province of Carolina, seventy leagues north of this fort, (which His Grace calls the port of St. George), that they arrived at St. Catherine, which is under this jurisdiction, that he ordered them to be brought to this fort in order to ship them to the Kingdoms [sic] of Castille. To inform His Majesty and the Gentlemen of His Royal Supreme Council of the Indies, of whatever is necessary to His Royal Service, he, therefore, orders me, the Scribe, to issue the proper papers, drawn and authorized in due form. This was provided, ordered and signed by His Grace.

This transcript was checked with and corrected from the original warrants that were drawn before me, which remain in my power and office and to which I remit myself. In witness thereof, by order of the Sergeant Major Don Pablo de Hita Salazar, Governor and Captain General of this city and the provinces of St. Augustine of Florida, for the King our Lord, I give the present testimony written in nine sheets, in this city on the fourth day of the month of November sixteen hundred and seventy-nine, and it is drawn on ordinary paper as there is no stamped paper in this fort. Died, on the 30th ult. at the sea-shore residence of Col. William Alston, Aaron Burr Alston, only child of Gen. Alston, and grandson of the late Vice-President Burr, in the eleventh year of his age.

Died, at Walterborough, on the 22d of last month, in the 8th year of his age, Master Thomas Fendin, of St. Bartholomew's Parish. This amiable and lovely boy had over heated himself at play, and drank too much cold water, which occasioned his premature death, after two days illness. . . .

Departed this life on the 24th ult. Mrs. Maria Ere-Hostmen Lapenne, a native of Germany, but a resident of this city about 20 years. She has left a tender husband and three children, . . . (Wednesday July 8 1812.)

Married, on Sunday last, by the Rev. Dr. Hollinshead, Mr. William Goodwin Davis, to Miss Mary Ann Channer.

The Friends and Acquaintances of capt. W. F. Hill, and the Members of the Marine Society, is requested to attend his Funeral, This Afternoon, at 8 o'clock, from the house of Mr. Bell, No. 22 Mazyck street. (Thursday July 9, 1812.)

A melancholy circumstance occured last Thursday afternoon in this place, from the effect of lightning. About 3 o'clock, during a violent thunder storm, Messrs. Roma and Midy were sitting in a room after dinner when a sudden stroke of lightning drove in the north east corner of the house, injured the chimney materially, and laid the two gentlemen just mentioned senseless on the floor. Mr. Roma recovered his senses in a short time; but Mr. Midy, unfortunately, did not survive the shock.

(Savannah Republican July 11, 1812)

(Wednesday, July 15, 1812.)

The Friends and Acquaintances of Mr. Francis Cheramy, are

Died, on Saturday last, . . . Mrs. Margaret Toussiger, in the 54th year of her age . . . an affectionate and tender parent, a most sincere friend, and a truly humane and indulgent mistress. . . . (Wednesday, August 5, 1812.)

Died, in Camp at Haddrell's Point, on Sunday, the 3d inst. Mr. David Arant, one of the volunteer soldiers from the 39th regiment, Chesterfield District. Mr. Arant was among the number of those who (on account of the shortness of the notice) was not able to arrange his business so as to leave home when the whole of the detached Militia from Cheraw, under the command of Major Evans, took up their march. . . . In his anxiety to reach the place of his destination at as early a period as possible, he was induced to march so rapidly, that notwithstanding the heat of the weather and the length of the journey, he reached the Point on the night of the third day after he took leave of his friends; the distance over which he marched on foot being about 160 miles. . . . On the second night after his arrival, trusting to the strength of his constitution, he did not hesitate to take his place as one of the guard—. . . rain coming up, he got wet, which brought on a fever, he was at first so exceedingly regardless, that no persuasion could induce him to take the necessary medicine until the fever had taken such a fast hold on him as to be irresistible in its progress. . . . Particular thanks are due to the activity and unremitting assiduity of Dr. Cordes, (Dr. Drayton being absent on business during the last day of his illness.) Nothing is to be attributed to the climate—nothing to the duties or fare of the Camp. His death can be ascribed to no other cause than that too certain confidence in the strength of his constitution. His body was interred on Monday, just beyond the precincts of the encampment. The body was attended, on its last solemn movement, by the officers and soldiers in procession. . . . Mr. Arant was a young man but little more than 20 years old. . . . (Wednesday, August 6, 1812.)

Horrid Murder. Extract of a letter from Orangeburg, dated Aug. 24th to the Editor.

"A most barbarous and horrid murder was lately committed on the bodies of two ladies of this vicinity, of the names of Kirsh and Kersley, by a negro fellow belonging to a Mr. Carnes. He had quarrelled with a wench belonging to one of the unfortunate females, and having beaten her, left her for dead. Fearing that he had not completed his diabolical intention, he returned and discovered his victim of his malice in the presence of her mistress. The lady unfortunately threatened the ruffian with punishment, when declaring that he would commit something worthy of it, he seized a loaded gun, and after some struggling on her part, lodged the whole of its contents in her body.—She fell and expired—Her sister, who saw the horrid transaction, shrieked with affright, and was immediately attacked and actually beaten to death with the butt of the gun. It is something like a melancholy satisfaction I add, that Justice has had her due, and the Blood thirsty monster has expiated his crime in the flames." (Thursday August 27, 1812.)

Died, in Augusta, at 8 o'clock P. M. the 30th Aug. Gen. George Matthews, aged 73 years.

Died, in Christ Church Parish, on Wednesday night the 2d inst. Mrs. Sarah Hinds, aged 43 years, the consort of Thomas Hinds, Esq., . . .

Died, on Sunday, the 30th ult. at Pineville, St. Stephen's Parish, master George Verree, in the ninth year of his age, son of the late Mr. George Verree, of this city. By the death of this most promising boy, a fond and Affectionate mother is left to mourn the loss of an only child.

Departed this life, at Haddrell's Point, (near Charleston) on the 12th inst. Mr. John Alexander Placide (second son of Mr. A Placide, late of the Theatre, deceased) in the 18th year of his age . . . The fate of this youth is truly melancholy: separated from his parents; left an orphan among us, the youthful ardor of his mind prompted him to volunteer his services when the tocsin of war sounded, to serve his country in the "tented field"; but ere the hour of glory offered to the soldier his chance for laurels, death has snatched him in his ruthless grasp, and left his relatives and friends to deplore his sudden and disastrous fate. (Wednesday September 16, 1812.)

Departed this life, on Tuesday last, Mrs. Maria Ramsay, wife of Dr. John Ramsay. . . . She bore, for seven long months, a severe disorder, with the most uncommon fortitude . . . her orphaned children, great in number, little in years, and the more numerous part of that interesting sex, and at that critical period of life, when the fostering hand of a mother, and such a mother, is so essential to train them to their future duties, and watch them in the early and intricate paths of life. . . .

It is with sincere regret we record the death of Lieut. Hethcote J. Reed, of the navy of the United States. He was a native of New-Jersey, and early engaged in the service of this country . . . After having served with distinguished credit in the several expeditions in the Mediterranean under the gallant Preble, he returned to his native land with every prospect of rising to eminence in his profession; but he was prematurely arrested in his career by a pulmonary disease. . . .
